

Chi Chen, Manager, Credits & Incentives, RSM Canada has extensive industry experience in securing government funding for her clients in various industries including manufacturing, agriculture, food processing, engineering, and IT. She previously worked at several international consulting companies and had successfully secured millions of dollars in government funding on the federal, provincial, and regional level.

In her current role, Chi provides advice regarding a wide range of incentive programs in the business areas of human resources, R&D, capital investment, export growth and green technology. Chi assists her clients to identify eligible projects in alignment with fitting incentive programs. She follows through the entire funding application process until its compliance phase.

Nakul Kohli, Manager, National Tax, RSM Canada is responsible for tax thought leadership functions. In particular, Nakul provides guidance on new federal and provincial legislative proposals, communicates new tax developments to clients and tax professionals, assists with international tax, and transfer pricing issues, and helps clients deal with their tax disputes with the CRA.

Before joining RSM Canada, Nakul worked as a transfer pricing consultant in Canada and as an in-house legal counsel and company secretary for a large mining group in India. In his transfer pricing role, he has helped clients in the automobile, pharmaceutical, oil & gas, and manufacturing sectors with their transfer pricing planning, compliance, and disputes resolution. As a lawyer in India, Nakul helped his company in several large litigation matters before several High Courts and Supreme Court of India.