

Beth Warnica is a partner in KPMG's Department of Professional Practice (DPP) in Toronto. Beth has significant experience providing advice to companies operating in a variety of industries on accounting and financial reporting matters related to complex transactions, accounting and accounting framework conversion projects.

Beth started her career in the Audit Practice working in the Vancouver office and the Melbourne Australia office, where she focused on the renewable energy and technology sectors. Recently, Beth returned from our International Standards Group (ISG) in London where she worked with our technical experts developing publications on emerging issues and accounting guidance, including KPMG's Global publication on Insights into IFRS.